III. FELLOWSHIP OFFICE BACKGROUND:

United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) in China is the China country office of the United Nations Development Programme – the global development network of the United Nations. UNDP has been working in China over the past 44 years, partnering to advance various phases of China's development.

We provide development advisory services and implement projects through innovation and applying our international experience and network in three pillars: supporting China's transformation to a low-carbon economy so that more people enjoy a cleaner, healthier environment; facilitating China's shift to using the SDGs as a standard for its inclusive development, economic decisions and investments, and supporting China's international cooperation and south-south engagement for SDG attainment.

The SDGs calls for unprecedented cooperation across all of society – including governments, communities, civil society and the private sector, and achieving them requires overcoming a critical financing gap. As the world's second largest economy, China is increasingly recognized as an important player in global sustainable finance market and financial system reforms. Since 2016, China has established a comprehensive policy framework for greening its financial system. Its efforts in redirecting financial resources for environmental objectives are essential to meet the global sustainable development goals.

Fellowship Scope: The Fellow will have the opportunity to work closely with the Policy and Research Team and partners across the public and private sectors in exploring and supporting new innovative approaches to enhance SDG-alignments in China's financial system.
